My Body, My Rules

My body, my rules

The body-safety and consent foundation for ages 3-6, retrofitted to the mechanic-embodying standard. Children practise their big "no", sort safe from unsafe touch, learn secrets vs surprises, and rehearse telling a trusted grown-up. Seven mechanics, thirty-two real-choice moments, zero "tap the right card". Empowering, never frightening. Scorecard: passed.

My body, my rules.

My Body, My Rules is the body-safety and consent foundation: children learn their body is theirs, the difference between safe and unsafe touch, that private parts are private (PANTS), secrets vs surprises, and how to say "no" and tell a trusted grown-up. This is the v2 retrofit: the v1 library was 100% binary taps with no real choices; the same empowering, PANTS-backed content now arrives through seven play actions with thirty-two say-it and choose-it moments.

Childline

Every child, the boss of their own body.

From the Chapter 1 personas. This foundational safety node gives every child autonomy language and a plan, delivered without fear.

PERSONA	WHAT THEY NEED HERE	THE MECHANIC THAT SERVES IT
Aria, 5 ("good girls are quiet")	Permission and practice for a big "no".	role-play : "No! Stop. I'm telling."
Kabir, 5 (audio-first, via Razia)	Voiced, repeatable safety words; "a grown-up can help".	role-play + build : say it; trusted-adults team.
Every child	Safe vs unsafe, secrets vs surprises, who to tell.	sort + branch : practised, not lectured.
Parents (Megha/Sunita)	Accurate, calm, non-scary safety.	Co-play; "safe/unsafe" language; Childline 1098.
A quieter, shy child	Permission to tell, and keep telling.	branch : "keep telling till someone helps".

Why this works (the evidence). Body-safety education works best when it empowers rather than frightens: use "safe/unsafe" (not "good/bad") touch, teach real body-part names and a trusted-adults network, and stress it's never the child's fault. Most who harm children are known, so the rules apply to everyone, and 3-6s learn by saying and doing, not by being told.

Seven moves, one rule.

The rework's heart: "my body, my rules" arrives through seven actions, each one being the lesson, with the child saying and choosing, not tapping. Mechanics rotate; the same one never runs twice in a row.

MECHANIC	THE CHILD DOES	EMBODIES	N
reflect	Affirms autonomy; checks the 'uh-oh' feeling (no wrong answer).	Body ownership; body cues.	21
branch	Chooses what to do (unwanted kiss, unsafe touch, who to tell).	Decisions; No-Go-Tell.	17
role-play (voice)	Says the big "no", "stop", and the telling words.	Assertion; disclosure.	15
strike-rewrite	Erases a safety myth, writes the truth.	Conceptual change.	12
sort	Safe vs unsafe touch; secret vs surprise; private vs not.	Telling concepts apart.	12
match	Who decides about my body; worry → who helps.	Autonomy; help-mapping.	5
build	Builds a trusted-adults team / a telling plan.	The safety network, made concrete.	2

32 of 84 moments are branch or role-play, because safety is a skill you rehearse. Binary "tap the right answer": 0%.

The two-test, passed.

Is it fun?

It feels empowering, not scary: you're the boss of your body, you practise a big "no" with a satisfying thump, you build your trusted-grown-ups team, you earn the confidence of knowing exactly what to do. Warm, calm, hero-of-your-own-body energy, with a different action on every screen.

Is it teaching?

Yes, the core child-protection foundation: your body is yours, safe vs unsafe touch, PANTS (private is private), real body names, asking first and "stop means stop", secrets vs surprises, and telling a trusted grown-up (and Childline 1098), all empowering and rehearsed.

The belief it moves. From "you must let grown-ups hug you; touch is good or bad; keep every secret; if something happens it's your fault; only strangers are unsafe" → "my body is mine, safe/unsafe is the rule, I never keep an unsafe secret, I can say no and tell, and it's never my fault."

Same safety, new actions.

84 scenarios across six categories, PANTS-backed and India-grounded (Childline 1098; the known-person reality). Every one re-encoded to a typed v2 mechanic.

CATEGORY	N	LEAD MECHANICS	COVERS
My body is mine	14	reflect, role-play, branch	Autonomy; say no to a hug; the 'uh-oh' feeling; no even to grown-ups.
Real names for body parts	14	strike-rewrite, match, sort	Real names are smart; private = swimsuit; not shameful.
Safe & unsafe touch	14	sort, branch, role-play	Safe/unsafe (not good/bad); never your fault; doctor exception.
Asking first & stop	13	role-play, branch, sort	Ask first; stop means stop; respect others' bodies.
Secrets vs surprises	12	sort, branch, strike-rewrite	Happy surprises vs unsafe secrets; "don't tell parents" red flag.
Telling a trusted grown-up	17	build, branch, role-play	Build a team; keep telling; never too late; Childline 1098.

A role-play scenario (the big "no"), verbatim.

hook: "A touch feels unsafe and you want it to stop."
 your line: "No! Stop. I'm telling." [best]
 "Freeze and say nothing"
 relearn: "You can say 'no, stop, I'm telling', it's strong and right."

What this game erases.

MYTH (UN ERASES)	TRUTH (RE WRITES)	BASIS
You must always let grown-ups hug or kiss you.	You can say no to a hug or kiss, even from people you love.	Body autonomy.
The real names for body parts are naughty.	Real names are just words; knowing them is smart and safe.	Body literacy.
Your private parts are shameful.	Private parts are normal and yours; private isn't shameful.	Body normalcy.
Touch is "good" or "bad".	We say "safe" and "unsafe", so nothing feels like your fault.	Language guidance.
If an unsafe touch happens, it's the child's fault.	It is never, ever the child's fault.	Non-blame.
You must keep every secret.	Never keep a secret about unsafe touch, always tell.	Secrets vs surprises.
You'll get in trouble if you tell.	You won't; telling is safe and brave.	Disclosure.
You must always obey grown-ups, no matter what.	You can say no to unsafe touch, even from a grown-up.	Empowerment.
Only strangers give unsafe touches.	It can be anyone known; the rule is the same, tell.	Safeguarding.

The micro-loop.

1. Hook. Lensy: "this is YOUR body, who's the boss of it?".
2. Play. One of seven mechanics, rotated, never the same twice in a row.
3. Practise. The child says the "no", sorts the touch, or names who they'd tell.
4. UN → RE moment. On a myth, UN erases it and RE writes the truth ("good/bad touch" → "safe/unsafe touch").
5. Reassure. Every unsafe scenario resolves on "it's never your fault; telling helps".
6. Sticker. The "my body, my rules" badge; GameDone records once.

Signature surfaces: the say-the-no rehearsal, the safe/unsafe sorter, and the trusted-adults team builder. Calm-mode and quick exit always available; tone stays warm and capable, never alarming.

Empower, never frighten.

- Register. Ages 3-6: warm, calm, boss-of-my-body energy; the feeling is "I'm capable and safe", never fear.
- Safe/unsafe language. Always "safe / unsafe", never "good / bad"; nothing framed as the child's fault.
- No graphic content. Private = swimsuit areas; real names affirmed as normal without explicit detail; age-appropriate throughout.
- Anyone, not stranger-fear. Rules apply to everyone known or not, without making the child fear all adults.
- Reassurance baked in. Each unsafe scenario ends on "not your fault" and "telling helps".
- Access. Audio-first and voiced (Kabir/Razia), calm-mode, quick exit, offline; co-play; Childline 1098 surfaced; made-for-India.

v2 schema, scorecard-gated.

- gameld. my-body-rules — node.game === GameDone key === registry id (confirm exact id in engine-host).
- v2 mechanic-embodiment schema. Each scenario carries type + typed payload (role-play.yourLine, sort.items/bins/key, branch.options, strike-rewrite.myth, match.pairs, build.pieces/sequence, reflect.options). Reuses the shared templates from g09.
- Scorecard-gated. Passed all eight checks (7 mechanics, max 25%, 0% binary, 32 autonomy, 12 UN→RE, 4 personas, 100% completeness). Re-run score_gdd.py on any edit.
- Cross-links. Foundation for Safety Squad (g08) and the whole consent thread; shares the big "no" with Feelings Friends (g01).
- Generated path. Label/order/thread changes flow through the xlsx + gen-path, never hand-edited path.ts.

Ethics contracts (never traded for engagement): empower never frighten; "safe/unsafe" not "good/bad"; never imply child fault; no graphic content; anyone-not-stranger-fear; always end on reassurance; surface Childline 1098; made-for-India.

Why this works.

- Empower, don't scare. Body-safety programmes work best when they build confidence and skills rather than fear; "safe/unsafe" language and "never your fault" framing protect the child and improve disclosure.
- The PANTS & trusted-adults model. Private is private (swimsuit areas), real body names aid clear disclosure, and a named trusted-adults network with "keep telling" is the evidence-based backbone, rehearsed, not lectured.
- Known-person reality & local help. Most who harm children are known and trusted, so the rules apply to everyone; in India, Childline 1098 is the child help number, surfaced age-appropriately.
