

GDD 34 Change Makers

Start small, start real

The changemaking game for ages 15-18. A project-builder that scales personal leadership into organised, collective action: pick a cause (gender equality, GBV, any community issue), make a plan, build a movement, measure impact, and take a real, safe first step. Change is shown as possible and practical, collective, and always safe, lawful and sustainable, with the law and helplines as tools a campaign can use. Seven mechanics, 33 choice-and-voice moments, zero "tap the right card". Scorecard: passed.

Start small, start real.

Where Lead the Way (g33) taught personal leadership and allyship, Change Makers scales it up: a project-builder in which a near-adult turns something they care about, gender equality, GBV, or any community issue, into a real, planned, collective effort. It guides them through finding a cause, making a plan, building a movement, measuring impact, and taking a genuine, safe first step. Its purpose is to make change feel both possible and practical: young people are shown, accurately, as drivers of real-world change, and the game replaces vague good intentions with the actual craft of organising, specific goals, allies, tactics, and sustainable, ethical, safe action. It deliberately bridges to real life, ending with a first step a player can actually take. New v2 build.

Possible, practical, and collective. The most durable change usually starts small, specific and collaborative, not loud or radical, and almost nothing meaningful is achieved alone. The game replaces vague intentions with the craft of organising: a sharpened cause, a real goal, mapped allies, fitting tactics, a built team, measured impact, and a safe first step. Setbacks are framed as iteration, never failure, and the 'win' is always real change, not noise.

The changemakers in waiting.

From the Chapter 5 personas (15-18). Near-adults full of care but short on the how-to of turning it into change. The game meets them as a co-organiser, not a teacher, and hands them a real toolkit and a first step.

| PERSONA               | WHAT THEY NEED HERE                                        | THE MECHANIC THAT SERVES IT                    |
|-----------------------|------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------|
| Sneha, 17      | To turn a cause she cares about into a real, focused plan. | branch + sort: cause & plan.            |
| Vijay, 17      | To build a team and movement rather than going it alone.   | branch + role-play: build the movement. |
| The Counsellor | To keep GBV work safe, lawful and pointed to real help.    | match + branch: the law as a tool.      |
| Every teen     | One real, safe first step they can take this week.         | branch + reflect: launch it.            |

Why this works (the evidence). Young people are real drivers of change, and the more adolescents participate, the more skills and self-belief they build. The most durable change starts small, specific and collaborative; movements are collective (recruit allies, build a team, partner, communicate); and setbacks are normal iteration. Activism must be safe, lawful, non-violent, ethical and sustainable, and for sensitive causes like GBV, backed by trusted adults rather than risky solo confrontation. The law and helplines are tools a campaign can use: India has real laws against GBV (the Domestic Violence Act, POSH Act, Dowry Prohibition Act, BNS) and helplines (181, 1098, 112).

Seven moves, led by the choice to act.

It's a project-builder and light campaign sim, so branch leads (the real decisions of organising), with sort sharpening cause, plan and impact and strike-rewrite clearing the 'too small to matter' myths. Mechanics rotate; the same one never runs twice in a row.

| MECHANIC                              | THE YOUNG PERSON DOES                                           | EMBODIES              | N  |

| branch (organise)signature | Makes the real choices of campaigning, and sees momentum build. | Organising in action. | 28 |
| reflect                        | Considers their cause, self-belief and a concrete first step.   | Self-efficacy.        | 17 |
| sort                           | Sorts actionable vs vague; impact vs noise; safe vs risky.      | The craft.            | 14 |
| strike-rewrite                 | Busts a myth ("you're too small"; "change must be loud").       | Conceptual change.    | 10 |
| match                          | Pairs a goal to a tactic; an issue to a law or helpline.        | Connections.          | 6  |
| role-play (voice)              | Recruits an ally, pitches a teacher, rallies the team.          | Voice; mobilising.    | 5  |
| spot                           | Spots the well-framed cause, or the safe launch move.           | Reading the room.     | 4  |

33 of 84 moments are branch or role-play. Binary "tap the right answer": 0%.

The two-test, passed.

Is it fun?

Game feel is energising and momentum-driven, the buzz of building something real. The campaign sim's momentum, allies joining and support growing, is the core thrill; an impact meter rewards real outcomes, not noise; and the real-launch moment, where the game hands the project back to the player's life, is genuinely motivating. It's rallying but grounded, never chaotic or aggressive, showing diverse young changemakers leading ordinary initiatives. Setbacks are framed as iteration, never failure.

Is it teaching?

Yes: how to frame a cause specifically and realistically; build a plan with a goal, allies and tactics; mobilise collective action and partnerships; measure impact, adapt and sustain effort safely and ethically; use the law and helplines as tools; and take a real, safe first step. It is candid that change is often slow, and that protecting your own wellbeing is part of doing it well.

The belief it moves. From "you're too small to matter; change must be loud and radical; one person does it alone; performative noise is change" → "young people drive change; it starts small, specific and collaborative; movements are collective; and real, measured, safe, lawful action is what counts."

The micro-loop.

1. Cause. Sam helps the player pick and sharpen a cause they genuinely care about.
2. Plan. They set a goal, map allies and stakeholders, and choose fitting tactics.
3. Build the movement. The campaign sim, recruit, team, communicate, partner, and momentum builds (branch).
4. The flip. UN busts 'you're too small to matter'; RE shows the impact meter move.
5. Make it stick & launch. Measure real impact, keep it safe and lawful, and end on a concrete first step.
6. Sticker. The Changemaker badge; GameDone records once.

Signature surface: the campaign sim with its momentum and impact dashboard, ending in a real-launch moment that hands the project back to the player's life. It scales Lead the Way (g33) into collective action and pairs with Justice League (g35), which supplies the rights and laws that campaigns can use as tools.

Possible, practical, safe and lawful.

- Safe and lawful activism. Non-violent, legal, and, for sensitive causes, backed by trusted adults or institutions, never risky solo confrontation.
- Realistic, anti-burnout. Change is shown as often slow; pacing, shared load and wellbeing are built into 'Make It Stick'.
- Ethical. Honest messaging, respect for others, real impact over performative noise.
- Respectful of community. Bringing people along with respect; never shames a young person's home or community.
- The law as a tool, handled responsibly. Accurate laws and helplines are shared; the game points to qualified help and never improvises legal advice, and a disclosure is treated as a safeguarding matter, not campaign material.
- Distress-aware Q&A. Anonymous questions are vetted; anything signalling harm, risk or distress routes to support.
- Access. Audio, offline, low-end build; causes and role models span gender, ability and background.

The changemaker toolkit & the law (India). Sharpen the cause · set a real goal · map allies & stakeholders · pick tactics · build a team · communicate · measure · sustain · stay safe & lawful. The law on your side: Domestic Violence Act 2005, POSH Act 2013, Dowry Prohibition Act, BNS 2023, and helplines, Women Helpline 181, Childline 1098, emergency 112. Start small: one concrete, safe first step this week beats a perfect plan that never launches.

v2 schema, scorecard-gated.

- gameld. change-makers — node.game === GameDone key === registry id (confirm exact id in engine-host).
- v2 mechanic-embodiment schema. type + typed payload; the branch organise move leads, with sort for the craft and strike-rewrite for the myths.
- Fact-checked content. The youth-changemaking evidence and the India GBV laws/helplines (DV Act, POSH, Dowry Act, BNS, 181/1098/112) verified; flag any legal edit for re-verification.
- Scorecard-gated. Passed all eight checks (7 mechanics, branch at 33%, 0% binary, 33 autonomy, 10 UN→RE, 5 personas, 100% completeness) after a rebalance the gate forced. Re-run `score_gdd.py` on any edit.
- Help-resource hook. Disclosures and the law route via the shared "get help" component (181 / 1098 / 112 / trusted adult); never campaign material.
- Tracked. `build_gate.py` finalize advances g34 to v2 PASS only after order, read, score, audit and artifact gates pass.

Ethics contracts (never traded for engagement): change is possible & practical; start small & real; collective; safe, lawful, non-violent, ethical, sustainable; the law as a tool, used responsibly; made-for-India.

Why this works.

- Self-efficacy grows by doing. Because the more adolescents participate the more able they feel, handing players the real craft and a concrete first step builds the belief that they can make change, the precondition for actually trying.
- Collective and small beats solo and grand. Since durable change starts small, specific and collaborative, teaching the craft of bringing people along, not a fantasy of going viral alone, is what produces real outcomes.
- Safe, lawful and sustained, with the law as a tool. Because risky or performative action backfires, framing activism as non-violent, lawful, adult-backed and measured, and the law and helplines as tools to use and share, is both protective and effective.
