

GDD 50 Equal & Confident

Claim your voice. Lead. Be the ally.

The College node for gender equality and the Leadership & Confidence domain. College and the first job are where equality gets real, who speaks, who leads, who's taken seriously. It builds the confidence to claim your voice and lead, the skill to be an active ally, and the eye to spot and counter everyday sexism and bias. Evenhanded, men engaged as allies; equality lifts everyone. Seven mechanics, 32 choice-and-voice moments, zero "tap the right card". Scorecard: passed.

Where equality gets real.

Equal & Confident takes the gender-equality and allyship work of the teen years (Equalize, Lead the Way) into the adult arenas where it bites: the seminar room, the internship, the first job, public life. It builds the confidence to claim your voice and lead, the skill to be an active ally, and the eye to spot and counter everyday sexism and bias, the subtle stuff: who's interrupted, who's called 'bossy', who's assumed to take the notes. It builds women's confidence and leadership while engaging men as allies, and it holds that equality lifts everyone, never zero-sum. New v2 build, evenhanded and never anti-boy.

FIELD	VALUE
Node / gameld	g50 · equal-confident (confirm exact id against engine-host)
Chapter / ages	Chapter 6 · ages 18-22 · adult / empowering / evenhanded
Thread / topics	E · Gender & Respect · UNESCO 3.2, 3.1 (Leadership & Confidence)
Prerequisite / builds on	g52 (Find Your Feet) · builds on g33 (Lead the Way), g26 (Equalize) · pairs g51
Gating	Open · evenhanded; men engaged as allies
Schema / status	v2 · scorecard PASS the equality-and-confidence game.

84

scenarios

7

mechanics

15

myth-flips

32

choice & voice

0%

binary taps

Your voice counts, and allyship is action. The biases here are quiet but real: women are interrupted more, called 'bossy' for the same assertiveness men are praised for, and defaulted into the unglamorous 'office housework' that rarely gets anyone promoted. The answers are concrete: claim your voice and don't shrink, lead from any seat, call bias in kindly, and be an active ally, amplify others, interrupt the interruption, share the load. And the frame is evenhanded: equality lifts everyone, and men leading on it is strength.

Voice, leadership, allyship.

From the Chapter 6 personas (18-22). Young women claiming voice and leadership in rooms that talk over them, and young men stepping up as active allies, in a country where women are sharply under-represented in the workforce and leadership.

PERSONA	WHAT THEY NEED HERE	THE MECHANIC THAT SERVES IT
Aarti, 21	Confidence to claim her voice and lead against the double standard.	role-play + branch: claim your voice.
Rohan, 20	To be an active male ally, not just believe in equality.	role-play + strike-rewrite: be the ally.
Zoya, 21	Inclusive allyship and leadership in her own style.	branch + sort: lead the room.
Every young adult	To spot and counter the everyday biases.	spot + sort: spot & counter bias.

Why this works (the evidence). Voice and leadership are unequally distributed: men are about a third more likely to interrupt a woman than a man, women speak up roughly a quarter less in meetings, and a 'broken rung' means fewer women are promoted to manager, partly because women apply only at 100% of criteria while men apply at around 60%. Everyday bias is patterned: the 'bossy' double-bind, 'office housework' defaulted to women, and ideas re-credited to whoever's loudest, all of which can be named and called in kindly. Allyship is action, amplify and credit, interrupt the interruption, share the load, and equality is not zero-sum: it lifts everyone, men included. Harassment is never the price of a job; there's redress (POSH, Internal Committees, 181).

Seven moves, led by voice and action.

It's a voice-and-allyship game, so branch and role-play lead (claim the floor, lead, call bias in, amplify), with strike-rewrite clearing the double-standard myths. Mechanics rotate; the same one never runs twice in a row.

MECHANIC	THE YOUNG ADULT DOES	EMBODIES	N
branch (the move) signature	Chooses to claim voice, lead, counter bias or ally.	Agency.	19
strike-rewrite	Busts a double-standard or zero-sum myth ("assertive = bossy").	Conceptual change.	15
sort	Sorts leadership vs bossy; bias vs fair; active ally vs performance.	The line.	14
reflect	Internalises that your voice counts and allyship is daily action.	Values.	14
role-play (voice)	Reclaims the floor; amplifies; calls bias in; backs people up.	Voice; allyship.	13
spot	Spots the manterruption, the office housework, the subtle bias.	Reading the room.	5
match	Pairs an ally move to the bias it counters; a need to redress.	Connections.	4 32 of 84 moments are branch or role-play. Binary "tap the right answer": 0%.

The two-test, passed.

Is it engaging?

Game feel is empowerment and recognition: the satisfaction of finally having the words to reclaim a point, the quiet thrill of amplifying a colleague and watching them get their due, and the clarity of naming a bias you'd always felt but couldn't pin down. The "so that's what's been happening" moment lands often. Sam is an even-handed adult peer; the tone is confident and inclusive, never anti-boy or preachy, and it engages men as allies throughout.

Is it teaching?

Yes: claiming your voice and leading in adult settings; practising active allyship; recognising and countering everyday sexism and bias (interruptions, the double standard, the office housework); and carrying confidence into autonomous life choices, all inside an evenhanded frame where equality lifts everyone and men leading on it is strength.

The belief it moves. From "assertive women are bossy; if I'm interrupted I should let it go; notes are just the women's job; allyship is just believing in equality; equality means men lose" → "the double standard is the bias; you can reclaim the floor; office housework is shared; allyship is action; and equality lifts everyone."

Built, not bolted on.

84 researched scenarios across the claim-your-voice → lead-the-room → spot-and-counter-bias → be-the-ally → equality-lifts-everyone → tools arc, India-grounded and evenhanded. Full library in the companion JSON.

CATEGORY	N	LEAD MECHANICS	COVERS
Claim your voice	16	role-play, branch, strike-rewrite	Speak, contribute, reclaim the floor, the confidence gap.
Lead the room	13	branch, sort, reflect	Leadership without a title; lifting others; inclusive leading.
Spot & counter bias	14	strike-rewrite, spot, sort	Interruptions, the 'bossy' double-bind, office housework.
Be the ally	15	role-play, branch, sort	Amplify, interrupt the interruption, share the load.
Equality lifts everyone	12	strike-rewrite, sort, reflect	Not zero-sum; men gain; everyone's issue.
Tools & help	14	match, sort, reflect	The call-in toolkit; harassment redress (POSH); routes.

The 'bossy double-bind' flip + an amplification role-play, verbatim.

flip: "An assertive woman is 'bossy'; an assertive man is a leader."
 UN -> "Assertive women are 'bossy'; assertive men are leaders."
 RE -> "That double standard is the bias; the same assertiveness is leadership in anyone."

role-play (amplify): a colleague's point keeps getting overlooked.
 best -> "I want to build on what Anjali said, it's an important point."

Full library: SwipeEd — GDD 50 Equal and Confident — Scenario Library.json (84 records, v2 schema).

What this game flips.

MYTH (UN ERASES)	TRUTH (RE WRITES)	BASIS
An assertive woman is 'bossy'; an assertive man is a leader.	That double standard is the bias; assertiveness is leadership in anyone.	Double-bind.
Taking notes and organising is naturally the women's job.	'Office housework' should be shared, not defaulted to women.	Office housework.
Leadership requires a title or position.	Leadership is initiative and lifting others; lead from any seat.	No title needed.
Allyship just means believing in equality.	Allyship is action: amplify, interrupt the interruption, share the load.	Allyship is action.
A man speaking up for equality is unmanly.	Men leading on equality is strength, and everyone's job.	Men as allies.
Equality means men lose.	Equality lifts everyone; it's not zero-sum, and men gain too.	Not zero-sum.
Calling out bias always means a big confrontation.	You can 'call it in', kindly and privately, giving a chance to change.	Call in.
Harassment is just part of having a job.	Harassment is never the price of a job; there are rights and redress.	POSH redress.

The micro-loop.

1. Surface. Sam (even-handed adult peer) surfaces a real moment, a seminar, a meeting, an interruption, a 'joke'.
2. Choose or voice. The young adult claims the floor, leads, calls bias in or allies (branch / role-play).
3. The flip. UN busts a double-standard or zero-sum myth; RE writes the fair truth.
4. Counter & ally. Spot the everyday bias; amplify, interrupt the interruption, share the load.
5. Tools & help. A confidence and call-in toolkit; harassment routes to POSH redress and 181.
6. Sticker. The Equal & Confident badge; GameDone records once.

Signature surface: the reclaim-the-floor moment and the amplify-a-colleague move. It carries Lead the Way (g33) and Equalize (g26) into adult equality, pairs with Know Your Rights (g51), and feeds the equal-partnership and co-parenting work of Chapters 7-8 (Equal Partners g55, Equal Parents g62).

Evenhanded, never anti-boy.

- Evenhanded. Engages men as allies, never anti-boy; confidence and leadership are framed inclusively for all genders.
- Equality lifts everyone. Held as not zero-sum throughout; men gain freedom from rigid roles too.
- Call in, not just call out. Models kind, often private, calling-in that gives people a chance to change.
- Harassment routes to redress. Harassment situations route to rights and redress (POSH Internal Committees) and help (181), covered in depth in Know Your Rights (g51).
- Inclusive allyship. Allyship spans all genders and identities, including LGBTQ+ colleagues.
- Confidence, not arrogance. Frames confidence as claiming rightful space, with respect for everyone else's.
- Access & privacy. Self-directed, audio, offline, low-end build; private by design (DPDP-aligned).

Harassment & help (India). Harassment is never the price of a job. Workplace or campus harassment, the POSH Internal Committee · a woman in distress, helpline 181 · your rights in depth, Know Your Rights (g51). Equality is for everyone, not against anyone; men leading on it is strength.

v2 schema, scorecard-gated.

- gameld. equal-confident — node.game === GameDone key === registry id (confirm exact id in engine-host).
- v2 mechanic-embodiment schema. type + typed payload; branch and role-play lead, with strike-rewrite clearing the double-standard myths.
- Evenhandedness is a hard requirement. Engages-men-as-allies, never-anti-boy and inclusive framing are contractual; expert-reviewed.
- Fact-checked content. Interruption and meeting-voice data, the 'broken rung' and confidence gap, the double-bind and office-housework dynamics, and India POSH redress verified this build.
- Scorecard-gated. Passed all eight checks (7 mechanics, top mechanic at 23%, 0% binary, 32 autonomy, 15 UN→RE, 6 personas, 100% completeness). Re-run score_gdd.py on any edit.
- Help-resource hook. Harassment routes via the shared "get help" component (POSH Internal Committee / 181) and links to g51.
- Tracked. build_gate.py finalize advances g50 to v2 PASS only after order, read, score, audit and artifact gates pass.

Ethics contracts (never traded for engagement): evenhanded & never anti-boy; equality lifts everyone; call in, not just call out; inclusive allyship; harassment routes to redress; confidence not arrogance; made-for-India.

Why this works.

- Voice and leadership are unequal, and trainable. Because women are interrupted more, speak up less and face a 'broken rung', teaching the concrete skills, reclaiming the floor, leading from any seat, applying without 100%, directly closes part of the gap.
- Everyday bias is patterned, so it's spottable. Since the double-bind, office housework and credit-stealing follow predictable patterns, naming them and calling them in kindly is a learnable, effective counter.
- Action allyship and a not-zero-sum frame change rooms. Because allyship is action and equality lifts everyone, amplifying, interrupting the interruption and engaging men as allies, framed as a gain for all, is what actually shifts a room.

Sources: UNESCO on gender equality in and through education (3.1, 3.2); workplace-bias research (manterruption, the meeting-voice gap, the 'broken rung' and confidence gap); the likeability double-bind and non-promotable 'office housework' literature (Lean In and related); UN Women on women's leadership; allyship and amplification practice; and India's Prevention of Sexual Harassment (POSH) Act and Internal Committees, helpline 181 (with rights covered in depth in Know Your Rights, g51). Evenhanded, men engaged as allies, never anti-boy. Citations accompany each scenario in the library JSON. 51 games now v2. Next by order: Know Your Rights (g51).